Proverbs 3:27 tells us not to withhold the good that we have the power to do. Turn it loose. "Un-tie" yourself and the abilities that God has blessed you with.

October has been a month of highs and lows...and blessings throughout. The project in Bogalusa was a great success by all accounts. It ended on the 1st and as usual it was hard to say goodbye. Pastor Pete Underwood and the fine folks at Emanuel Baptist became great friends.

After Bogalusa I took my travel trailer to Florida for the Macedonian banquet. However, it was canceled due to the hurricane so the roof project at Fouraker Road Baptist in Jacksonville, Florida was also canceled. The church there was not spared and the roof is needed now more than ever. We have re-scheduled for Nov 14-16 and when you read this the roof should be complete...Lord willing. Pastor Ody Witt and the folks at Fouraker could use some good news.

I had the great privilege of attending Hillcrest Baptist Church's annual missions revival. Hillcrest is my home and sending church and it is always a pleasure to participate in the wonderful worship. This year was no exception as we had an old fashioned tent revival with Brother Brant Lane as our evangelist. We were truly challenged at very service. The conference was well attended and I enjoyed seeing several missionaries who are old friends as well as several who are now new friends. It is always a good time when I can be home and worship with my family.

The next week Greta and I went to Nancy, Kentucky for the White Oak Baptist Church first annual missions conference. White Oak is the oldest church in the ABA and this was their very first missions conference. It was outstanding! The church went beyond any expectations. Great preaching from Brother Carlos Angulo, missionary in Peru, and Mike Jones, missionary in Fayetteville, Fort Bragg area of North Carolina, as well as Brother Danny Fudge, missionary in Nebraska. In addition to the excellent preaching we ate like kings and enjoyed a great time of fellowship on our outings. After the mission conference I was able to spend a few days working on the mission house at the Evening Shade RV Park. This will be a much needed place for missionaries to stay and relax as they pass through the Somerset, Kentucky area.

Today is a travel day to San Luis Potosi, Mexico. We are joining a group of 21 people who will, with Gods help, build a new church building...praise God for allowing me the opportunity to be a small part of His plan.

Please continue to pray for us as we travel, we work, and we preach Gods word. And remember our families we leave behind

In His Service,

Paul T. Lamb
